FOREWORD

Since ancient times when armies were led to war by minstrels, men have realized that music influences their feelings. It can inspire bravery or reverence, spark cheerfulness, or bring on the bluest of moods. A majestic hymn, a tragic ballad, a simple love song — all these affect the emotions as spoken words do not. There is spiritual power in music; men sense this but cannot explain what it is or how it works. The strains of a stirring march or the national anthem arouse pride and patriotism in men as speeches seldom can.

People put things that are most important to them into their music. "A song will outlive all sermons in the memory." The essence, the real meaning, of our high school years has been represented in the words of a song. Our Alma Mater, a reminder of all we leave at Marple-Newtown, is a symbol of the "love and loyalty" we will keep with our Memories of '63.

. . . whose career is dedicated to education, the Class of 1963 is proud to dedicate this yearbook.

William F. Nye came to Marple-Newtown in 1946 to resume teaching after spending three years in the Navy. Prior to his being in the service, this Villanova honor student taught science and English, coached football, and was a book salesman. For years he taught chemistry and physics in the old high school. When that building became Marple-Newton's Junior High, he exchanged the test tubes and formulae of his classrooms for a desk in the principal's office.

When the present seniors were beginning high school as freshmen, "Mr." Nye was the principal at the junior high. Preceding us to the high school by a few short months, he continued to guide our education. As a result of the expansion and division of the high school, we were the last sophomores to attend the high school, the first seniors to have "Dr." Nye as our principal, and the only class to have him for all four high school years. The Class of 1963 appreciates this distinction. In the quiet manner that is his way, Dr. Nye has exerted a firm and permanent influence on our progress.

Everyone who has contact with Dr. Nye is impresssed by his sincerity of speech and of manner and must sense his dedication to his duties. Upholding the school's morale and academic standards is a continuous project for which he has long been respected by students and the community. Dr. Nye's serious attention is given to student affairs as a person with both authority and personal concern for the welfare of the student body. He has demonstrated to those around him a genuine interest in the individual and collective success of the class members.

We, the members of the Class of 1963, now move into the world with gratitude for Dr. Nye's guidance. We hope he finds cause for pride in us as we build on these high school years. He is in our memories, and we hope we are in his, as one who has shared important experiences and will always be a friend.

ADMINISTRATION AND FACULTY

A school building becomes a place of education only when people enter it to teach and to learn. Then, through constant exchange of ideas with teachers and contacts with other staff members, students receive lasting impressions, helpful experience, and priceless knowledge. Recognizing that "school" exists in the people who influence our lives, we of the student body pay tribute to Marple-Newtown, our Alma Mater, ". . . for the service she has done . . ."

GIVING OF THEIR

Dr. Kermit M. Stover, chief administrator and Superintendent of the Marple-Newtown Joint Schools, is directly responsible to the Joint School Board. He has charge of employing teachers and supervising all employees of the school system. The development of new study courses and future construction plans are also under his jurisdiction, and he is responsible for enforcing the provisions of the school code and the school board.

Dr. William F. Nye is responsible for the operation of the Senior High School. He carries out the policies of the school district and the directives of the superintendent concerning curriculum activities and student personnel. Dr. Nye also serves as administrator for the Marple-Newtown Adult School.

Dr. Jay Gruener's duties are in the areas of attendance, extracurricular activities, and student control. He coordinates the use of the senior high school building with community organizations and helps in the planning and presenting of assembly programs and school productions.

M-N's administrative heads, Dr. William F. Nye, Principal; Dr. Kermit M. Stover, Superintendent; and Dr. Jay L. Gruener, Assistant Principal, strive for the betterment of our school.

The Marple-Newtown Joint School Board consists of fourteen directors, seven representing each township.

The joint school board is an agent of the state, and its purpose is to set policies in accordance with state laws and requirements. Each district has the responsibility of collecting taxes and building elementary schools.

The principal aim of the joint school board is to have as fine a school system as possible without overtaxing the population. The school board allows the community to have access to school grounds including recreation areas, athletic fields, and the school buildings.

The board contains several committees. The Athletic Committee works to improve Marple-Newtown's sports program. The Properties Committee is in charge of maintenance and construction in all the schools, and the Budget Committee handles the school district's financial needs.

The joint school board invites young people to attend its meetings on the third of each month.

WHEN A HELPING

Mrs. Murphy is always willing to help students find information in our library.

Mrs. Rich keeps the records of the library and makes sure everything is running smoothly.

Our busy, constantly expanding library is well organized under the direction of Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Rich. This year many new up-to-date books were acquired and added to our collection. By the end of the school year, there were close to nine thousand volumes on M-N's shelves. A group of library aides were trained early in the year and put to work under the supervision of the librarians. Always ready to give help to students, the librarians have books on all fields and general wealth of information at their fingertips. They have made our library a useful place for study and research.

HAND IS NEEDED

Mrs. Mannino, our school nurse, is constantly kept busy tending to student ailments, from headaches and colds to severe "test-itis." Dividing her days between two secondary schools, this nurse has probably had contact with everyone of us at some time. She is never too busy to give her attention to the students. Her help is deeply appreciated by the unhealthy and the healthy alike.

Much of the business of our school is handled by the office's efficient staff, Mrs. Tatum and Mrs. Ziegler. Besides keeping class and student records in order wnd working on routine office tasks, they offer friendly assistance to the students. Mrs. Gallen, the school's guidance secretary, keeps the guidance records of all the students. Our secretaries are a vital part of the school and are appreciated by all.

The school nurse Mrs. Mannino, gives Maxine Sokol the eye test.

CAFETERIA STAFF — ROW 1: Mrs. N. Tross, Cafeteria Manager, Mrs. M. Cini, Mrs. M. Orr, Mrs. C. Lawrence, Mrs. C. Wilson; ROW 2: Mrs. Larsh, Mrs. E. Rudella, Mrs. J. Clemens, Mr. Grimsley, Head Dietician.

The cafeterias in the Marple-Newtown Joint School District are under the head management of Mr. Roland Grimsly. The Senior High School cafeteria consists of a staff of seven workers, under the management of Mrs. Robert Tross. The main duty of the cafeteria workers is to prepare the daily lunches which include a platter and an a la carte line. The a la carte line includes an assortment of sandwiches, salads, hot platters, and desserts. During the school year, the cafeteria staff also prepares numerous banquets and dinners for both the faculty and the student body. This also includes special meals which are served for such holidays as Thanksgiving and Christmas.

THEY SERVE

The business staff is located in the lower level of the school. Offices there include those of Administrative Assistants for Business, Elementary Instruction, and Educational Services. Also in the Administrative Suite are the offices of the Secretary of the Joint Schools, the Cafeteria Supervisor, and the Director of Music.

The duties of the Business Staff are Bid Specifications and Purchasing, Bookkeeping i.e: Accounts for Equipment, Cafeteria, Student Activities, and Monthly Reports. The staff works each day from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

The efficient administrative secretaries and the department heads keep the joint school system running smoothly at all times.

CUSTODIANS — Mr. G. Earle, Mr. C. Matson, Mr. J. Garaghty, Mr. T. Gustafson, Mr. J. Mercer.

The custodians of our high school are responsible for the maintenance of classrooms, offices, and other school areas. The tasks of caring for school property, cleaning, and making repairs, is a continuous one. Our custodians are on the job during the school day, after hours, and whenever else the high school building is in use.

OUR NEEDS

Our bus drivers are on duty every school day — rain or shine in all temperatures, and in snow more often than most students would like. In addition to transporting the majority of students to and from school, special trips were made for students in class at Paxon Hollow, in afterschool activities, and on teams competing at other schools.

BUS DRIVERS — ROW 1: Mr. W. Standen, Mr. A. Danby, Mr. S. Cragle, Mr. Harris, Mr. G. Bradley, Mr. J. Lawn; ROW 2: Mr. R. Grebner, Mr. T. Hagney, Mr. T. Norton, Mr. Carson, Mr. H. Cavalier, Mr. G. Milligan, Mr. G. Bockyer.

ACTIVITIES

The duties, the fun, and the rewards of taking a part in extracurricular school activities are a big part of a student's life. In cooperating with others we find new friends and new interests that add depth to our high school years. Not music alone, but all our contributions of time and talents are "songs of lover and loyalty" to our school.

IN TODAY'S WORLD

This year was an extremely active one for the Marple-Newtown Senior High School Student Council. The council officers and members worked diligently under the leadership of President Harry Reiger and advisor Mrs. Egner. The responsibility of running the school's Student Council Store was handled by a committee under Noreen Smigel, Vice-President. Other Council committees were kept busy sponsoring dances, such as the Alumni Dance at Thanksgiving, and conducting all student assemblies, including Awards Assemblies. One of the highlights of the school year was the annual Talent Show, held in the spring. The Student Council's Charity Drive, directed by treasurer Lee Ellis, collected more money than ever before. As another responsibility of the student government, a committee was appointed to make recommendations for a student code of dress and conduct. This was done in conjunction with Paxon Hollow's Student Council and concerned regulations for school hours, sports events, and other activities.

For the first time, Student Council representatives were elected according to advisor-advisee groups. The school's four publications also sent representatives to meetings. The Council met every other week on Thursdays, rotating to use a different class period each time. Another new activity was a program in which M-N received visitors from other schools' Student Councils and sent some of our representatives on exchange visits.

Marple-Newtown's Student Council had the honor (and the great responsibility) of acting as host to the District Conference on April 24. Between forty and fifty schools in the area attended this meeting, the theme of which was "Opportunity."

GUIDE THEM

"I pledge myself to uphold the high values of the National Honor Society to which I have just been elected."

Character, Scholarship, Leadership, and Service are the traits required for membership in the National Honor Society. These qualities formed the basis of the activities of Marple-Newtown's chapter during the past year.

Following precedents set across the nation, our Honor Society changed its nature from a purely honorary one to one of active service to the school. This year, for the first time, members of the group carried out a tutoring program which involved fifty other students. Geometry, chemistry, English, and French were some of the subjects for which tutors were made available, free of charge, during study periods and after school.

This year the Honor Society provided a concessions stand for the winter sports events held at M-N. Profits from this new activity were used to help purchase keys for the new members inducted later in the year.

On November 11, M-N's chapter was host for the Third Regional Convention of the National Honor Societies of Chester, Deleware, Montgomery, and Philadelphia Counties. Approximately one hundred students and faculty advisors attended to compare chapter activities and to formulate regional by-laws, which are now a part of the region's permanent organization.

The highlight of the year was the annual induction ceremony, held on March 15, during which twenty new members were admitted. The traditional speeches on the National Honor Society and its four qualifications for membership were presented. New members were then tapped" in the audience, while the president spoke briefly about the activities of each inductee. Following the candle-lighting ceremony, Dr. Nye was the first to extend congratulations to the new members.

HI-Q

The Scott's Hi-Q team does much to prepare for difficult questioning in the interscholastic contests. The team consists of Ed Hunter, Karen Dix, Aris Sevag, Edna Fricker, and Larry Kun, (alternate).

Scott's Hi-Q, in its fifteenth consecutive year, is a quiz program sponsored by the Scott Paper Co. Its purpose is to test the general scholastic knowledge of four selected students from each of twenty-one Delaware County high schools. Each school has a series of three meets, with three schools competing every week. These contests are broadcast on Sundays over a local radio station. This year questions were asked in the following topics: Current Events, U. S. History, Government, and Economics, World History, World Literature, Shakespeare, Science, Mathematics, Music and Vocabulary. M-N competed on December 19 at Yeadon, on February 20 at Lansdowne-Aldan, and at home on April 4. M-N's team members met on their own to discuss questions and also received advice from various faculty members, including the sponsor, Mr. Frank Smith.

DEBATING TEAM

Marple-Newtown's debating team had a very successful season this year in competition with other Delaware County high schools such as Haverford and Lower Merion. The general topic for this year was the Common Market and the specific topic was "Should Congress Abolish the Protective Tariff." Also, in the spring of this year the team traveled to the Annual Forensic Speech Festival at Temple University where it competed with schools from all of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware.

The debating team's coach was Mr. John E. Nash, a graduate of LaSalle College and a faculty member of three Marple-Newtown township schools. The officers this past year were Alan Gordon, Pres., and Janice Mannino, Sec.

Mr. Nash, Sponsor, gives pointers to the debating team: (STANDING): Herb Ochitill, Lenny Lundy, Eric Stahl, Mr. Nash, Alan Gordon, Jeff Olen, and Jon Krain; (SEATED) Janice Mannino, Betty Rippel, and Nancy Wilkes.

The Math Club is a local Chapter of Mu Alpha Theta, the national organization of math clubs. The club meets the second and fourth Thursday of every month and is composed of students interested in exploring various mathematical fields. Besides giving reports on mathematical topics, the members this year worked on a digital computer, the Minivac 601. Interested students worked on the Minivac after school and related their findings at the club meetings.

In order to qualify for membership to Mu Alpha Theta, a student must have completed two years of college preparatory mathematics and received no lower than a B average in either course.

The officers of the Math Club: Aris Sevag (Sec.), Ed Sanborn (Sgt.-at-Arms), Barry Hecht (V.P.), Larry Kun (Parl.), and Jack Rossi (President) discuss some basic trigonomic principles.

SCIENCE CLUB

E. Frecher, R. Hurlbrink, J. Phillips, A. DeCecco, R. Freeman, F. Kerfoot, T. Jaagus, and Mr. R. Davis (Sponsor).

The Science Club does not follow the traditional pattern of our other school organizations. It is composed of students interested in science and who desire advice concerning individual science projects. The science teachers have cooperated with the students in this effort. Each member working on a project can be assigned to a teacher specializing in the field to which the project belongs. The club did not have group meetings regularly, but members were in contact with the teachers individually during the year.

Co-editors, Bette Walck and Jeff Olsen seek aid from Mr. Capriotti in planning a new lay-out.

THEY WORKED

MEM

Memories '63 was compiled by a group of conscientious and hard working seniors. The responsibility of co-ordinating all the facets of the yearbook fell upon the shoulders of the efficient co-editors, Bette Walck and Jeff Olen. In order to facilitate the year's work, the staff was divided into five general areas: the literary staff, the layout staff, the typing staff, and the business staff. Headed by Karen Dix, Pam Tross, and Priscilla Thoroughgood, the literary staff wrote all the copy, captions and identifications for pictures. Mike Dorsey directed the difficult task of preparing the seniors' section: scheduling senior portraits, and compiling epithets for each senior. The layout section, headed by Alberta Zalimas and Steve Crane, was responsible for planning the pages, balancing copy, and cropping pictures. An often overlooked facet of producing a yearbook is the typing of copy. Under the management of Nancy Vile, the typists pounded away to get copy typed before the deadlines closed in. Securing financial support for the yearbook, a very time-consuming process, was handled by Fred Wertz and the business staff, who went into the community to sell advertisements and to obtain patterns. Lenny Lundy was treasurer for the yearbook organization. Room 106 was the scene of all yearbook action this year. Every day after school, the staff worked diligently to meet scheduled deadlines. The group's faculty advisor, Mr. William Capriotti, guided and helped the staff to organize Memories '63.

E. Hunter, F. Wertz, and D. McCloy spent many hours selling ads to local merchants and businessmen.

Mar-News Sponsor, Mr. Ralph Wikstrom, gives a few pointers to the paper's co-editors, Hillary Hampson, and Larry Kun.

The Mar-News has completed its twenty-sixth year of publication, keeping students informed. The paper this year surpassed by far its previous achievements in quality and quantity. Twelve editions appeared at intervals of approximately three weeks, providing readers with accurate, timely information worthwhile to students. Price was cut and quality improved. What more could a reader ask?

The increased efficiency of the 62-63 Mar-News was due partly to a greatly enlarged staff. The editors, Hillary Hampson and Larry Kun, had the experience of the previous year to benefit from. The organization got off to a good early start with an issue published on the first day of school. For the first time, the editors held a place on the Student Council.

The staff is divided into departments based on types of jobs. The News Staff is composed of alert students whose job it is to report on recent or forth-coming events. These reporters must provide background material and compile all current information to inform the readers accurately and thoroughly.

MAR-NEWS

Editors, Al Singer, Larry Kun, Carol Callaway, Edna Fricker, Ed Hunter, and Hillary Hampson plan forthcoming issues of the Mar-News.

Feature writers on the staff have a talent for finding interest in the commonplace and hunting for that extra "something" to spark student interest. Features include human interest stories, personal interviews with teachers and students, reviews, polls, puzzles, poems, career information, and general student columns. Staff members in this department need imagination, curiosity, and an individual style.

The sports reporters provide Mar-News readers with rundowns on the latest athletic events, interviews with coaches and planers, schedules for coming games, and behind-the-scenes atmosphere.

The Editorial Staff is in charge of making assignments and handling all copy after it comes from the typists. Editors proof-read, rewrite, and invent headlines. Final duties of this department include laying out each page and checking the printed galleys which the printer returns.

OCTAGON

The Octagon officers: C. Crowley, M. Pincus, B. Hecht, N. Wilkes, and R. Dalton. Diligent work is done under the expert guidance of Mrs. Stevenson.

"By the student and for the student" — this is the accomplishment of Marple-Newtown's literary magazine. Through the Octagon, students of the school have the opportunity to express themselves and share their feelings with other students.

Marple-Newtown's first literary magazine, a mimeographed booklet containing fifteen short articles, was published in the spring of 1961. This year the Octagon had the largest staff ever, claiming not only size but also quality. The members worked hard before and after publication. Original material was gathered through English classes and staff members from any interested students. After this initial step, there was the job of editing all contributions and selecting those which met the standards desired. A theme was emphasized in each issue of the magazine, such as "Creativity" for this year's first publication.

Staff typists were responsible for preparing all completed copy. Typed manuscripts then were sent to Paxon Hollow's Graphic Arts Department where the printing of the Octagon was done.

This year the school was fortunate in seeing two issues of the Octagon published, thanks to the contributions and the work of students. The staff was headed by editor Richard Dalton, art editor Barry Hecht, treasurer Nancy Wilkes, head typist Connie Crowley, and circulation manager Mike Pincus. Mrs. Stevenson was the faculty advisor.

Art Editors for the Octagon, J. DeGeorge, K. Keyser, B. Hecht, and M. Steckler, work on some new cover ideas for the next issue.

Co-editors, Barry Hecht, Jack Rossi, and Aris Sevag discuss a recent issue of the Student News.

It has been three years since the first Student News went to press in January, 1961. Since that time one page of the County Leader has been donated to the students for student copy. The Student News contains editorials, news stories, features, sports, and a regular cartoon strip, all written by students.

The basic advantage of the Student News in a local paper is the great amount of freedom it has. Its policy states that no article written truthfully, and in good taste, should be censored merely because it tends to put one group in a bad light.

Three seniors serve as directing editors, while a junior who is expected to serve in that post the following year is given the job of assistant editor. These are the supervisors of the page, and their job is to organize the copy and write the editorials. The sports editor takes care of all athletic events that occur at Marple-Newtown.

The job of the art editor is to draw the Yellow Kid each week and all illustrations. The Student News has a treasurer whose job it is to keep financial records and pay the debts of the paper. Aside from news of sports and other current activities, the Student News features class news. "M-N's Seniors," a weekly story devoted to one of the senior class's outstanding students, is also featured.

The purpose of the paper, is to bring to the community the news of the school when it happens and to maintain a position as the students' voice and forum on school affairs.

M-N WILL SHINE

M-N's band has a dual-personality. The first side may be seen in its cheery orange and black uniforms at every football game, providing pre-game and half-time entertainment on the field and supplying a vocal and musical morale booster in the stands. Naturally, the smooth marching performances which the band gives between the goal posts aren't spur-of-the-moment b r a i n - storms. Band members are in the senior high parking lot every morning at 8:00 rehearsing their shows at least a week in advance.

Sophomore members from Paxon Hollow have a special bus to carry them back to their classes. Even advanced science students whose schedule make morning rehearsals out of the question come to special practice after school so that they may still participate on Saturdays. The band is also often called upon to play at many community affairs, such as building dedications and holiday parades.

The second phase of our band's personality starts the week after Thanksgiving, when the concert season begins. Rehearsal time remains the same, but the music turns from brisk marches and school songs to light classics, popular numbers, show tunes, and novelties. Several concerts are scheduled at intervals throughout the school year.

M-N's band has several major key days of its own. On the annual fund-raising Tag Day, band members of all secondary schools collect donations for new uniforms. Then there's the bowling party, a recent innovation of just two year's standing, also to raise funds. Climaxing each year's activities is a concert in the spring, followed by a dance and buffet supper for band members and their guests.

The color guard and majorettes accompanied by the band practice a routine before game time.

CHORUS

The chorus at the Marple-Newtown Senior High provided much entertainment during the school year. Under the direction of Mr. Paul Oberholtzer, the group of sixty-five sang religious, classical, and popular music. This year Cathy Martino accompanied on the piano and the organ. The group performed at assembly programs and at various P. T. A. meetings. To prepare for such appearances, rehearsals were held every morning at 8 o'clock in the auditorium.

For the second year Marple-Newtown's Chorus was invited to participate in the ceremonies celebrating the United States Law Day at the Media Court House. Other performances included the Fall Concert, the Christmas Carol Service, and participation in the Baccalaureate Service. The highlight of the season was the Spring Concert in which the chorus presented exerpts from the Broadway show West Side Story.

OF MUSIC

The Marple-Newtown Symphony Orchestra is rapidly becoming one of our best musical organizations. Largely through the efforts of Mr. Ronald Hockenberry, the director for the past two years, a first rate orchestra has developed at M-N. This year fifty talented musicians rehearsed every morning before school at the Junior High School, under the direction of a new conductor, Mr. James D. Bustard. According to Mr. Bustard, Marple-Newtown has a fine orchestra which can be built up even more.

Besides presenting some outstanding concerts during the year, the orchestra gave a spirited Christmas program and, in addition, lent color and enjoyment to school functions. Providing music for the Commencement Exercises rounded out the year's activities for the orchestra.

The first violinists of the symphony orchestra, C. McCrary, C. Dickinson, D. Barrnet, and A. Sevag rehearse for a coming program.

One of the treats of our football season was the regular appearance of the majorettes and colorguard. These girls performed at all football games and parades throughout the year, acting as a colorful, high-stepping vanguard for Marple-Newtown's band.

Intricate drills were developed by the head majorettes and the colorguard captain. The groups then met separately for practice before school to perfect their routines. Spectators agreed that the skill shown in the half-time performances of the majorettes and colorguard reflected this work and time spent in preparation.

Special features this year included the fire batons of the head majorettes and the acceptance of a fifty-star flag by the colorguard.

OUR SPIRITS HIGH

Energetic, dedicated, and vivacious-these are all suitable adjectives for Marple-Newtown's cheerleaders. Throughout the football and basketball seasons these girls kept the spirit of enthusiasm high among team members and spectators alike. Neither bad weather nor discouraging scores kept the squad from giving vocal and moral support to M-N's victories.

Each Wednesday and Friday, the twelve members of the squad rehearsed their repertoire of cheers and chants, perfecting them both for the games and for pep rallies held throughout the athletic season. An additional activity of the cheerleaders was the planning of the bonfire program before the annual Thanksgiving Day football game with Springfield.

The American Field Service saw extra activity this year as it worked to promote international good will and understanding through student scholarships. As a growing student chapter, it is responsible for continuing the efforts of a club first organized in 1959.

To finance the exchange of students, the AFS relies on fund-raising projects, such as selling AFS stock, candy, and Christmas cards, running a bookstore, and sponsoring several dances, an annual car wash, and a picnic in the summer.

Each year the club presents a number of assembly programs featuring our foreign student and the returnees. International Day, a meeting of students from abroad in a panel discussion with Americans, is also an AFS function. In this way, more foreign students get to see M-N, and vice versa. Exchange students from the Senior Class are Monica Ribadeneira (from Ecuador), Lynne Johnson (to Germany), and Donna Rolston (to New Zealand).

The club is hopeful that continuing support from the entire school will make it possible for them to realize the AFS motto:

"Walk together, Talk together, O ye peoples of the earth; Then and only then shall ye have peace."

The purpose of the Language Club is to promote interest and understanding of the languages and the people of foreign lands. At one meeting Mrs. Aboyan discussed the Russian language and customs. A panorama of Russia was shown, supplemented by a recording. Mr. Nakajima spoke to the group on the Japanese way of life. Other meetings included a panorama of Switzerland and a talk by Miss Hamburger on Germany's language and customs. The Language Club, sponsored by Dr. Colli and Mrs. Rippeon, hopes to give its members a background in foreign ways of life and languages.

Lectures alone did not constitute the whole program for the Language Club. Trips were felt to be of value to the members, who sang carols in various languages at the Dunwoody Home at Christmastime. The part taken each year by the Language Club in decorating the school lobby for our International Day is one sign of the club's importance and its development during its two years of existence.

HI-Y

TRI-HI-Y

The Hi-Y and its counterpart, the Tri-Hi-Y, are pledged "To create, maintain, and extend, throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character." These organizations played an important part last fall in raising funds for Y.M.C.A. World Service by selling mints. Founded as service organizations, the clubs undertook other projects separately. The Tri-Hi-Y continued sponsorship of a Korean orphan, and at Christmastime took a party and gifts to an orphanage in the area. Hi-Y members parked cars for teachers' institutes held at school, and they formed an organized cheering section for sports events. To raise funds the girls held a Sadie Hawkins Dance and sold crysanthemums for the Thanksgiving game, while the boys ran their annual Beatnik Dance and organized a skating party for the members of both clubs.

All the students, faculty, and visitors in the high school have been aware of the work of the Art Club. Signs and posters promoting school activities were among the group's colorful contributions. Everyone who enjoyed the holiday displays in the lobby has the Art Club to thank for them.

Most of the members are not planning on careers as artists, but they all enjoy art and have had fun working for their school. Various ways of presenting ideas artistically were used by the group, which devoted much time and effort to the projects. The main purpose of most of the club meetings was to plan displays and posters when they were needed.

VISUAL AIDS

This year, with over $200 worth of new equipment, the visual aids department is able to serve the school in many ways. This organization has charge of three television sets, three tape recorders, two opaque projectors, and one overhead projector. The visual aid department also keeps audio equipment in working condition.

Under the direction of Mr. Sanelli, this group has three main functions. The boys help to present films to supplement regular classwork. They duplicate tapes and they keep their equipment in good condition. Films are ordered through the Del-Ches Film Library at West Chester State Teachers College. To lessen the burden of this expense, the films are purchased by the library and then rented to other Delaware and Chester County schools. This economical measure makes possible the presentation of more films at our school.

STAGE CREW

The stage crew is one of the most important service organizations in the school. These boys, under the direction of Mr. Benevit, have been helping to stage many of our activities. The crew is responsible for the technical work not only for plays, but for dances, assemblies, concerts, and the public address system for athletic events.

The work is divided into three areas, each with its own student manager. The managers of the crew are also students. Joe Dolphin, who is the stage crew manager, is responsible to Mr. Benevit for the work done by his group, and Larry Loughrey is the assistant manager. The lighting crew, under the direction of Bob Fink, controls the panel backstage for the various effects on stage. Audio work, under Frank Kerfoot, provides the public address system or sound effects when needed. The scenery for our plays is also constructed by this organization, headed by Bob Baldwin. Our stage crew is continually searching for methods to serve our school better.

LIBRARY AIDES

Every student at Marple-Newtown has the occasion to use the library because of its content and its efficiency. The library aides are essential for the proper functioning of our library. The library aides are responsible for stamping books, helping to repair books, replacing books on the shelf, and taking charge of the magazines. By working during their study periods and before and after school, the aides make it possible for the librarians to attend to other pressing demands of the library. The girls meet with Mrs. Murphy for several training classes to learn the proper procedures used in the library.

A thorough understanding of the library makes many aspects of school work much easier. The student may also discover an interest in a career in Library Science. Experience in Marple-Newtown's library enables students to earn money doing the same type of work in college.

Library aids Renee Grimaldi, Joanne Strunk and Doreen Bursdall sign out library books for Alberta Zalimas.

Inspecting many of the library's new books are Connie Pierce, Nancy Borquix, and Evelyn Smith.

The library's magazine room is kept in order by library aides Bess Hockstein and Betsy Dodge.

LOOKING AHEAD

The Future Teachers of America is an organization which introduces its members to a career in the teaching field. At the weekly meetings, guest speakers and movies are presented to acquaint the future teachers with many of the opportunities and responsibilities of a teaching career.

This year the chapter was privileged to be host to the Southeastern Regional District Conference at Marple-Newtown. Also this year, a club library was established. This provided F.T.A. members with reading material concerning the teaching profession.

This year's officers were Carol Weiss, President; Anne Omohundro, Vice-President; Pam Tross, Secretary; and Dace Lacis, Treasurer. Mr. Thomas Sanelli served as club advisor.

F.B.L.A.

The Future Business Leaders of America is a relatively new club addition to Marple-Newtown. The F.B.L.A. strives to incorporate good business practices within its members, and to give the participants every opportunity to attain experience in the business world.

This year the concessions crew for the football games was taken from the F.B.L.A. Also, the club participated in a nationwide and statewide typing contest, and attended the Southeastern F.B.L.A. Regional Conference. Guest speakers and film strips were often used in the regular meetings of the club. The F.B.L.A. was also responsible for typing the Student Directory.

The Future Nurses of America is an organization established in the interests of girls interested in the medical professions. The members are planning to pursue careers in various phases of the broad field of medicine. During the year the girls invite guest speakers to attend the club meetings and give talks about their respective areas or their hospitals and facilities. Four of Marple-Newtown's capable future nurses served as officers of the group.

This year there were several club-sponsored activities and bake sales. The F.N.A. contributes to the important goal of supplying nurses and technologists with helpful background knowledge in their future field.

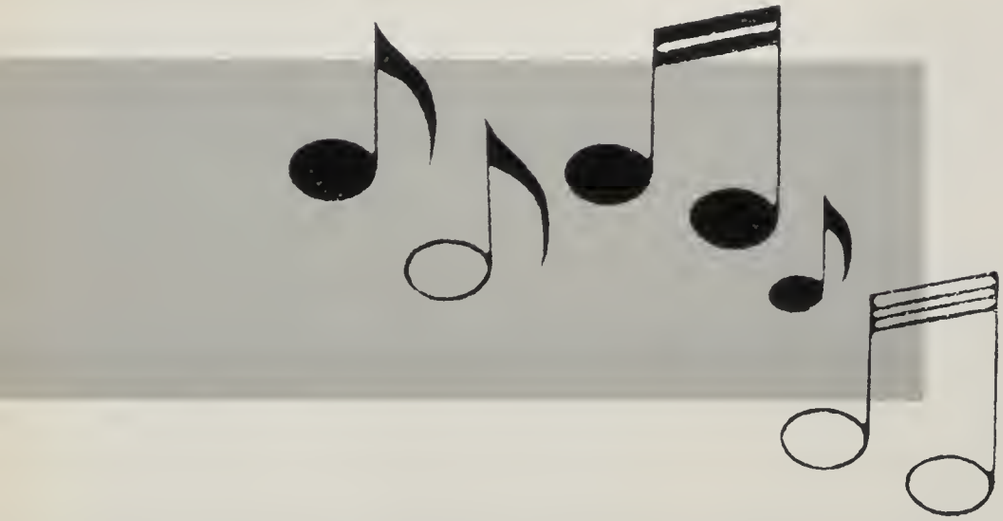
F.H.A.

The Future Homemakers of America, under the guidance of Miss Fuoco, spent an active year. Projects were designed to develop initiative and to teach democratic procedures in planning and carrying out activities related to homemaking. Throughout the year films were shown to the girls on various fields of homemaking. Classes were held in knitting, crocheting, making flower arrangements, and gift-wrapping packages. At Christmas, the FHA members made fruit cakes for the teachers and learned how to make candles for the holidays. During the spring the girls visited several museums to broaden their interest in homemaking. To finance these projects, the FHA held baked-goods sales and sponsored a Spring Dance.

The officers who headed the club were President Ellen Kadel, Vice-President Alberta Zalimas, Secretary Betsy Aument, and Treasurer Nancy Frazer.



FEATURES

An old calendar becomes a blur of dates as time passes, but there are always certain events that remain outstanding. Very special occasions, preceded by weeks of planning and waiting, will never be forgotten. Hours on stage or on the dance floor — the exciting times that could happen only once are our most "precious memories of the days gone by."

A top hat is mistaken for a tea cup by Bruce Kaufman as the rest of the cast looks on in amazement.

An indifferent expression passes over Bruce Kaufman (Charlie's Aunt), as he has just been proposed to by Jay Miller.

"WHERE THE NUTS

An unfortunate fellow, trapped into impersonating "Charley's Aunt" in our junior year's play, described Brazil as "Where the Nuts come from." His words suggest the mood which surrounded this entire production. Turning to humor for the second successive year, (and for a second success,) the class of '63 presented Marple-Newtown's broadest comedy so far.

Jack Chesney and Charley Wykeham, two Oxford undergraduates, invite the girls they love to their rooms for luncheon to meet Charley's wealthy aunt from Brazil. This millionaire aunt informs the boys at the last minute that her visit will be delayed a few days. Unwilling to miss their only chance to declare their love, the boys are left in dire need of an old female chaperone. The answer to this problem appears in a unique friend, Lord Fancourt Babberly. When forced into a satin skirt, lace stole, and wig, Babs is persuaded to impersonate Charley's Aunt. The girls are at once fond of the old dear, and Jack's father competes with Spettigue, the guardian of one of the girls, for the hand of the millionairess. When the real aunt shows up, she assumes another name and observes the comic situation which follow. Babs, posing as the aunt, tricks Spettigue into agreeing to the marriage of his ward to Charlie, and the real aunt renews an old love affair with Jack's father. Babs also regains the fortune he had lost at gambling and wins the hand of Ela, an orphan whom the aunt has taken under her wing. Sweethearts young and old are happily united; all ends well thanks to Charley's aunt.

The hilarity on stage was increased by several unrehearsed events. Although the audience thought all was planned, no one could have been more surprised than the cast when a champagne bottle (prop.) was broken during one riotous scene. Opening night was a true test of endurance. One dignified character's false nose slipped out of place as another actor was stranded on stage, forced to ad lib for several minutes waiting for someone who had missed an entrance. With no lines in the script to explain these accidents, some of the funniest disasters ever to occur on our stage took place.

Behind the scenes, careful planning and earnest workers made more serious contributions to the play's success. Many of the costumes were authentic 1890 clothes, collected and fitted by a committee which also made necessary additions to the wardrobe. The class of '63 managed its first complete change of setting as well as ordinary scenery shifts. Backstage coordinating was handled by Diane Eby, veteran of our sophomore play. This time the number of performances was increased, and "Charlie's Aunt" played to enthusiastic audiences on April 6 and 7.

The collegiates, Frank O'Brien, Larry Loughrey, and Bruce Kaufman, drink a toast to their loves.

The climax of the evening was reached when Lynn Johnson was named as Queen of the Junior Prom. Followed by her court, she ascended the "Stairway to the Stars" and was crowned by Lynn Donatucci, our Sophomore Queen, of the previous year.

After the dance ended, a breakfast was served in the cafeteria by the parents and enjoyed by all who attended it. Members of the class who had planned weeks in advance and had been working hard on various committees saw their efforts rewarded by an "out of this world" Junior Prom.

THE TEAHOUSE OF

Colonel Purdy gives last minute instructions to Captain Fisby and his guide Sakini, before they leave for Tobiki village to build a Pentagon-shaped school house.

Children Ruth Brangan and Hope Weinberg get their goat, Lady Astor, and prepare to leave for Tobiki village.

On December 7th and 8th bamboo curtains rose on an exceptional dramatic effort — the Class of 63's outstanding production of The Teahouse of the August Moon. The presentation of this delightful satire by John Patrick (adapted from Vernon Snieder's book) rivalled all previous class plays staged here in Marple-Newtown. Teahouse was a challenge — a very difficult play to perform and to produce. This is all the more reason to give credit to the hardworking seniors who made it possible. Cast members learned to speak lines in authentic-sounding Japanese. Another of their accomplishments was the reconstruction of the teahouse in a few minutes before the eyes of the audience. Diane Eby, our veteran student director, was busy "ruling" three curtains and separate sets of scenery, among other tasks (such as keeping track of a live goat borrowed for the village.) The committees and crews outdid themselves. Opening night marked the debut of ingenious "rolling set platforms," which remain as permanent M-N properties. The stage was a delicate fantasy, enhanced by beautiful Oriental costumes.

The play itself is a memorable one with significant moral undertones. Its characters are at once lovable and unforgettable. Set in post-war Okinawa at the time of the U.S. Marines' occupation, the story relates the efforts of a young officer trying to bring democracy and prosperity to the small village of Tobiki. Although cleverly assisted by Sakini, the native interpreter of language and of life, Captain Fisby encounters problems. He has orders to build the villagers a school, but they vote democratically for a teahouse instead. Fisby succumbs to the simplicity of Okinawan life after much humorous confusion. Along the way he faces the blustering of his superior officer, Colonel Purdy, and befriends the psychiatrist sent to report on him. Prosperity finally comes to the determined villagers, who develop a thriving brandy industry. With the help of Sakini, a lovely geisha named Lotus Blossom, and the thirsty Marines, the villagers bring not only prosperity to Tobiki, but also a Congressional Committee. The philosophies of two ways of life have clashed and adjusted. "Lovely ladies, kind gentlemen ... Go home to ponder ... "

The villagers gather around to admire their newly completed teahouse.

WE HAVE THESE

Seniors dance to the music of Paul Judge and his Orchestra.

The Senior Prom, a high point of the seniors' social calendar, was indeed filled with "Moments to Remember." The dance was held at the General Washington Country Club at Valley Forge, the traditional location for past M-N senior proms.

Months of preparation and anticipation were climaxed on the night of March 30. Paul Judge and his Orchestra furnished the music for this formal, occasion while seniors contributed the Mexican Hat Dance and "Hail, Hail the Gang's All Here" for additional fun. Joan Scott was crowned queen by Lynne Johnson, our junior prom queen.

A turkey breakfast was served at the country club after the prom ended and before private parties began.

Candidates for Prom Queen and their dates dance as chaperones make their decisions.

SPORTS

"We survey with all pride and joy . . ." the teams that represent our school in sports. The school spirit demonstrated by the players and spectators alike is a credit to the entire student body. For bringing honor to their Alma Mater through victory and good sportsmanship, Marple-Newtown's athletes are cheered.

TIGERS ROLL

During a home game, M-N's George Allan punts on the fourth down.

The Tigers this year faced a difficult challenge. For the first time they had to compete against Section 1 teams, the largest schools in suburban competition. Our team also had to follow the outstanding record of the preceding year's team. The spirited Tigers started the season with many inexperienced but exceptional players; only three starters returned from last year.

Practice officially started on August 20, and football camp, on the 26th. Here the team began to show their game-winning knack by playing to a three and one record in preseason scrimmages. On August 31 the team returned home, an efficient group shaping into a winning team.

The Fords try a last effort at downing the Tigers as M-N attempts a touchdown.

In a desperate second effort, Tigers struggle for an extra yard.

This year's football team will undoubtedly go down in the annals of Marple-Newtown as one of the most successful the school has produced; the Tigers were co-champions of Section I and co-champions of the entire Surburban League. The excellence of the team in general is reflected by the number of players that made honorary all-state teams. Alexander and Britton made first string All-Delco, and DeCindis made third string All-Delco. Honorable Mentions went to Turner, McCourry, Burruss, Kenig, Hasson, and Johanson. Ten players made All East Delco teams and nine made All Section I. The success of our team was due to the hard working efforts of Mr. Bonder, named Coach of the Year, who built up the underrated team. Britton and DeCindis led the team in rushing, gaining 657 and 577 yards respectively. Green, Alexander, Turner, and Burruss led the team in tackling.

The team played superb football throughout the season. The Penncrest game typified the smooth functioning of the team, through blocking, exceptional playing in the backfield, and overall coordination. MN's holding of Chester to a mere 83 yards gained was the best of many fine days for our line. The most exciting and momentous game of the season was the Abington game. The Ghosts captured an early 2—0 lead and for the first three quarters the outlook for Marple-Newtown looked anything but optimistic. The Tiger offense could not give an air of permanence to any of their drives. The key play of the game was a long pass to DeCindis, which set the scene for a Britton touchdown. The team continued its winning habits throughout the season with the exception of the Lower Merion heartbreaker. Statistics-wise, in first downs, total yardage, and in scoring the best game was against Norristown. The Thanksgiving tie with Springfield, champions of Section II, made us co-champions of suburban football. Although MN outplayed Springfield in total yardage and first downs, the Springfield defense was able to hold the Tigers to the draw.

DESIRE

Leading this year's team were coach Mr. Earl Shores and co-captains Howard Rich and John Rubright.

Cross country has become "big" and is still growing at Marple-Newtown. In the past five years our teams have gained a lopsided record of fifty victories and two defeats. Marple-Newtown has claimed four Section Two Championships and two District Championships. Because of the close cooperation of squad members, this sport of individual competition has changed into a team event.

The eighteen runners endured a rugged two-and-a-half-mile course around and near the school. Their coach, Mr. Earl Shores, prepared the boys for the meets, increasing the team's physical endurance by gruelling runs in practice. The cross country season, lasting eight weeks and consisting of about ten meets, soon revealed some real speedy runners. Seniors Howard Rich and John Rubright, team co-captains, placed fifth and tenth in the district. Then they went on to run in the Pennsylvania meets held at Penn State. Competing there in a group of two hundred and fifty of the state's top runners, Howard finished twenty-ninth, while John placed solid sixtieth. This year the record for Marple-Newton's course was broken by co-captain Rich in twelve minutes, thirty-six seconds.

This year Marple-Newton was represented on the hockey field by teams that were a credit both to the girls and to the school. Team members exhibited sportsmanship and skill in all their games as their hours of practice paid off. The girls enjoyed a very successful season, the varsity team posting a final record of three wins, three losses, and three ties. High scorers were Peggy Smith and Carol Smith.

Participating in this sport were sixty-six girls, including a large number of sophomores from Paxon Hollow High School as well as juniors and seniors. Hockey co-captains were seniors Trina Van Dusen and Joanne Enderle. The teams were coached throughout the season by Miss Wilson, varsity coach, and Mrs. Egner, junior varsity coach.

On the day following the last hockey game, a banquet was held for the team members. They ended the season by performing skits and presenting gifts to their coaches.

This famous cry was heard twice a week at the Suburban Swim Club, where the Marple-Newtown girls' swimming team diligently practiced for their meets in the Suburban 1 Conference. The team, composed of twenty-five girls, finished their season with a varsity record of eight wins and one loss and a junior varsity record of nine wins and no losses. Also, the swimmers became the District P.I.A.A. (Pennsyvlania Interscholastic Athletic Association) Champions. Coached by Mrs. Judy Haber, the team won the title from Abington, who had been the champion for five years. At the district meet the girls captured two trophies by breaking an all time record in the 100 yard freestyle relay and the fifty yard backstroke. The backstroke record was broken by sophomore Kathy Hutton, who is fifth in the nation in backstroke swimming for her age group.

Although the Marple-Newtown boys' swimming team did not finish their season as District Champions, they did have an impressive record of five wins and three losses for their second year in the Suburban One Conference. The team finished tenth in the district at the P.I.A.A. and was awarded six medals. Senior Eric Stahl won a medal in the 200 yard medley relay, and an outstanding achievement was made by Bob Schell, who competed in the Eastern Regional Meet and the Pennsylvania State Meet.

The varsity basketball team had its difficulties in its Section One debut. The Tigers placed last of the eight teams and had a record of 4 wins and 17 losses.

There were some bright spots in the season, however, especially the back to back upset wins over Cheltenham and Norristown late in the season.

It was a young Tiger ball club that challenged the likes of Upper Darby and Abington. Juniors Ron Cooper, Jim Colligan, John Rode, Jim Delaney, and Chuck Peoples dominated the team throughout the year along with seniors Gene Johanson, Lee Ellis, and Don Britton.

Attendance at basketball games improved this year, as a great many more students saw this year's contests than in recent seasons. The Junior Varsity slumped to 2 wins and 17 losses this year. Bob Schultz, Dan Rudloff, and Don Bennet paced the team.

Mr. Watson and Mr. Williams coached the varsity team this year while Mr. Yost took charge of the junior varsity team.

The varsity girls' basketball team completed a season of hard practice and hard playing. The spirit displayed by the girls at all of their games gave a better indication of the team's sportsmanship than the scores which were recorded. Senior forward Trina Van Dusen was the high scorer for most of the season until an injury forced her out of action. Other seniors Sara Haney and Sue Mazow (co-captains), Grace Ferguson, and Judy Hoskins, and juniors Sue Pasimeni and Carol Smith were mainstays of the squad.

A major change in the rules of girls' basketball this year allowed one guard and one forward to cross the midcourt line. This called for more endurance on the part of these roving players.

The Junior varsity was sparked by Nancy Cox and Barbara Blair. Coached by Miss Wilson. they had three victories to their credit this year.

Since its inception three years ago, wrestling has come into its own as a varsity sport at Marple-Newtown. Throughout the long season, which lasted from December 1 to February 23, the team displayed hustle and fine competitive spirit. Under the leadership of Mr. Jones and Mr. Williams, coaches, and Al Traunsteiner and Chuck Alexander, co-captains, the grapplers enjoyed a satisfying season despite an even 4—4 record. With practice every day from 3:45 to 5:30 P.M. at the junior high school, the matmen were in good shape for the tough league competition.

M-N opened the season with a win over West Chester and then entered the Haverford Tournament. With Al Traunsteiner and Chuck Alexander emerging as champions, and Steve Weiss and Don Smith as runners-up, Marple-Newtown placed fourth out of eight schools. Out of the remaining seven matches, the team won three and lost four. The highlight of the season was the Section II Championships, held at Springfield on February 22 and 23. M-N placed six wrestlers in the semi-finals, three in the finals, and one champion, Al Traunsteiner, who was undefeated throughout the season.

M-N's outfield included Bob Standen, Jim Turner, Ray Facciolo, and Gary McCourry. McCourry also shared catching duties with Tony Melusky and Harry Klein.

As did the other Marple-Newtown athletic teams, the track team made a safe transition from Suburban Section II to the more difficult Section I. Through twelve meets the track team displayed the same drive and ability which had distinguished it in past seasons.

The M-N trackmen were experienced, most of them having spent two previous seasons in this sport. A solid core of veterans, supported by a few new juniors and sophomores, helped make the best of stiff competition.

Coaches this season were Mr. Earl Shores and Mr. Raymond Thayer. They started practice sessions early in March, training the team members for their rugged schedule. This rigorous preparation was evident in the win-loss record.

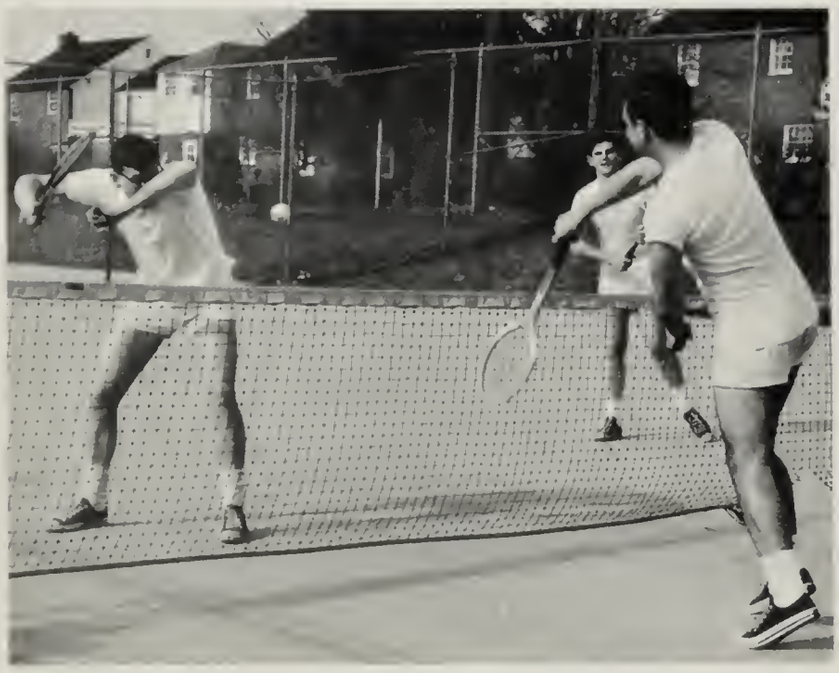
In its fourth year of interscholastic competition, Marple-Newtown's boys' tennis team completed another gratifying season under the direction of Mr. William Watson. This was mainly due to the two-year experience of the seven boys comprising the varsity team.

The boys competed in ten matches with other schools in Section II, Delaware County. At the conclusion of the season the ten competed in the Upper Darby Chamber of Commerce Tournament.



Players Bob Boody and Lee Ellis make a formidable team against John Whiting and his teammate.

MATCH

This year was one for rebuilding the girls' tennis team, since five of seven varsity players graduated last year. In his second year as coach of girls' tennis, Mr. Edward Grubbs fielded a team which should be very strong in the next few years. The main difficulty this year was limited practice time and space.

The varsity team consisted of seven girls, three playing singles and four playing doubles. Four or five other girls comprised a junior varsity team. The girls practiced on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays for two hours.

BELLES AT BAT

Varsity softball players demonstrate skills. Lilly Belle Howard catches, as Judy Ostien bats, and Pam Tross steals home.

Under the coaching of Mrs. Marilyn Reynolds, and with the assistance of three managers, this year's softball team practiced every day after school. This year marked the second season of organized softball at Marple-Newtown.

A total of six games were played during the spring, one at home and one away with each of three schools.

The softball team had no official captains for the year; instead, the girls elected their captains before each game that they played.

RECREATION — AFTER HOURS

An important aspect of athletics at M-N is the ever-expanding intra-mural program. After physical fitness tests were completed this year, the highest-scoring girls were named as leaders in their gym classes. Under the training of student teacher Miss Marilyn Telford, these girls learned apparatus skills and then assisted their classmates.

During the winter, a coed gymnastics team was formed, and it appeared at one of our basketball games.

After-school recreation also included volleyball games for boys' and girls' teams.

JUNIORS

"Hail! Oh, Hail! Alma Mater dear . . . " New students in a school have an important adjustment to make. Old ties must be broken and new loyalties pledged. This year's underclassmen, making this transition, had to prepare at the same time for great responsibilities. Next year this class will urge new juniors to "Lift your hearts to old M-N High . . . "

JUNIOR CLASS CAUCUS

The large Class of 1964 began a busy junior year with the election of class officers and an Executive Council. Throughout the school year the representation provided by this group of students had to compensate for a lack of class meetings.

First on the list of junior activities was the magazine subscription drive held early in the fall. The profit from sales made by this class project amounted to about $1000, which was put in the class treasury to help finance other activities. In November the juniors held their dues drive to obtain additional funds for class functions.

During the course of the year the juniors ordered their class rings and produced the Junior Play. Two performances of "Gaslight" were given on April 5 and 6. The juniors who went on the class trip invaded New York City on May 3. The climax of the year for underclassmen was their Junior Prom, which was held the night of May 25.

Members of the Junior Executive Council meet to choose their rings: M. Atkinson, S. Stanard, D. Morphesis, C. Peoples, S. Shockley, P. Clellan, T. Cerulli, B. Queen.

The Class of 1964, which comprised over half of Marple-Newtown High School's student body, was well represented by its members in various clubs and on athletic teams. Newcomers at first, the juniors soon blended with the natives as coworkers and friends. Many times during the school year, they actively supported high school activities, contributing greatly to their success. These underclassmen also contributed to the honor of their school through outstanding scholars, athletes, and student leaders, and the class as a whole added much to general school spirit at M-N.

The magazine drive is explained (by treasurer Frank Bove) to the Executive Council: C. Copely, D. Gugliotta, K. Patton, T. Fredrick, R. Grimaldi.

THE

SENIORS

The time and effort devoted to education and the value of what is gained in school have led students through the years to give the name Alma Mater to their institutions of learning. Our Alma Mater, our adopted "mother" during an important period of learning, has meant something special to each member of the Class of 1963. As seniors, students today and citizens tomorrow, we are taking our place in society —

"And instilled in our hearts we find Ideals formed in Marple-Newtown High."

THE SENIOR EXECUTIVES MEET

The class of 1963 has enjoyed a year filled with memorable experiences. The planning and organizing of class activities was handled through the Senior Executive Council, a body elected by all the seniors to represent their various interests. Capable officers were instrumental in coordinating class functions and the effective leadership provided by the entire group contributed to making our senior year a success. Seniors brought honor to their class and to their Alma Mater through scholastic and athletic achievements. We are proud to recognize among our members four National Merit Scholarship Semi-finalists and teams of championship quality in many sports. The class as a whole has demonstrated unified support of school and class projects. New programs such as publications' combined-subscription drive and a plan of paying in installments for certain senior expenses were initiated by this class. We have had success and found a realistic guide for the coming years in our motto . . . Look Ahead to the Future and Profit by Your Past.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL — ROW 1: (seated): M. Ribadeneira, J. Boice, J. Cromwell, S. Crane; ROW 2 (seated): C. Hough, D. Weaver, J. Degnan, T. Jaagus, T. ADS

The people and organizations of the community share responsibilities and privileges. Businesses in our area help support our school and encourage school spirit through contributions in the form of advertising or grants. Many part-time opportunities are made available to students by the citizens of the community. Students, in return, create a substantial market for certain goods and services of local businessmen. As part-time employees and as citizens-in-training, the community's teen-agers play an important role in its activities.

The Class of 1963 expresses appreciation to those groups and individuals who have contributed to the social and economic growth of our community.

GRADUATION

This is the time of the year when thousands of young boys and girls have completed their days of learning

Then too, in addition to High School and College students, there are those obtaining diplomas as Physicians, Dentists, Engineers, etc.

Our nation is blest with these institutions of learning, and its graduates put to use all the rest of their lives the KNOWLEDGE gained, after years of hard and persistent study.

"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of KNOWLEDGE."
Proverbs; 1;7

"To know the love of Christ Passeth KNOWLEDGE."
Ephesians 3;19

However, there is nothing to be compared with a saving KNOWLEDGE of the Lord Jesus Christ.

"ever learning and never able to come to the KNOWLEDGE of the truth."

2nd TIMOTHY 3;7

There is an inherent desire in every soul to be in Heaven when this life is ended. Many think that good works, or living a righteous life will merit such a reward; but we read

"NOT by works of righteousness which we have done, BUT according to His mercy He saved us."

TITUS 3;5

"There is a way that seemeth right unto a man, BUT the end thereof are ways of death."

PROVERBS 14;12

Jesus said; "I am the way, the truth, and the life; no man cometh unto the Father, but by Me."

JOHN 14;6

MEMORIES presents but a sampling of the many unforgettable moments which the Class of 1963 will view in retrospect. To our Alma Mater we are indebted for our academic and social education, prerequisites for adult living.

Each page of this yearbook presents another segment of your high school life. As you turn this final page, another chapter in your life begins.

To our fellow classmates, we, the Staff of MEMORIES, 1963, extend best wishes.
